..... I want to share the following that came to my attention. It was written by our 13 year old seventh grade parishioner. Elysia Guillean.

*I am grateful for many things in my life but the one person who is constantly understanding and loving is my mom. My mom is the most caring, understanding and accepting person I know. I could not be more grateful to have her as a mom, nor could I ask for someone better. There have been many times when I feel gratitude towards my mom but the times I am most grateful for is when she talks to me about what is right and what is wrong. I know because of her how hatred towards race, sexual orientation etc. is horrible. I know how simple acts of kindness are what matter because of her. All the time in school I hear "that's gay" being said in a negative way. I also hear in school "you're retarded" being said to someone as an insult. I don't join in on those idiotic sayings because my mom taught me how hurtful it is. I will forever be grateful towards my mom for helping me learn what is wrong. My mom also shows how acts of kindness are very important and shows me the beauty in the world.
Hold the door open, stick up for what you believe in, and appreciate the good in someone. I am grateful for every one of these true, wise and pure lessons she has taught me.*
